

The Washington Post

A new memorial

Thursday, November 11, 2010

Actor Gary Sinise, right, breaks ground with Gordon Mansfield and other guests at a ceremony for the American Veterans Disabled for Life Memorial in Washington on Wednesday. Mansfield is the director of the organization; Sinise, who might be known best for his role as a disabled Vietnam veteran in the movie "Forrest Gump," is the group's national spokesman. (Bill O'leary)